

2024 Important Tax Information

The Form 1099-DIV (or substitute form) you received from your broker or financial intermediary may include information about income derived from U.S. Government and agency obligations. This income may be excluded from state income tax (although in many states, only the income from U.S. Treasury obligations is exempt from personal state income tax). The information below is provided to assist you with the completion of state income tax returns. The amount in Box 1a of 2024 IRS Form 1099-DIV should be multiplied by the applicable percentages below to obtain the dollar amount of income derived from the sources categorized below. Because the qualifications for exclusion vary from state-to-state (some states have investment threshold requirements), please consult your tax advisor for details.

This information does not constitute, and should not be considered a substitute for, legal or tax advice. The rules governing the proper tax characterization of distributions by the funds can be complex. Shareholders should consult their own tax advisor regarding the proper tax characterization and reporting of the fund's distributions.

Read the prospectus carefully before investing.

There are risks associated with investing, including possible loss of principal. Fixed income investments are subject to interest rate risk; their value will normally decline as interest rates rise. Fixed income investments are also subject to credit risk, the risk that the issuer of a bond will fail to pay interest and principal in a timely manner, or that negative perceptions of the issuer's ability to make such payments will cause the price of that bond to decline. Investing in mortgage- and asset -backed securities involves interest rate, credit, valuation, extension and liquidity risks and the risk that payments on the underlying assets are delayed, prepaid, subordinated or defaulted on.

Bond ratings are grades given to bonds that indicate their credit quality as determined by private independent ratings services, such as Standard & Poor's, Moody's and Fitch. These firms evaluate a bond issuer's financial strength or its ability to pay a bond's principal and interest in a timely fashion. Ratings are expressed as letters ranging from 'AAA', which are the highest grade, to 'D', which is the lowest grade.
